PETITION FOR REVIEW

Pursuant to Rule 15 of the Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure and 29 U.S.C. § 655(f), the States of Missouri, Arizona, Nebraska, Montana, Arkansas, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Alaska, New Hampshire, and Wyoming; and AAI, Inc., Doolittle Trailer Manufacturing, Inc., Christian Employers Alliance, Sioux Falls Catholic Schools d/b/a Bishop O’Gorman Catholic Schools, and Home School Legal Defense Association, Inc., hereby petition the Court for review of the Emergency Temporary Standard (ETS) issued by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor, titled: “COVID-19 Vaccination and Testing; Emergency Temporary Standard.” That ETS was issued by OSHA on November 5, 2021, and is published in the Federal Register at 86 Fed. Reg. 61,402. A copy of the Emergency Temporary Standard is attached as Attachment A.

The Court has jurisdiction and is a proper venue for this action pursuant to 29 U.S.C. § 655(f). This Petition is timely filed as it is filed within 60 days of the November 5, 2021 publication date.

For over a century, the U.S. Supreme Court has recognized that policies on compulsory vaccination lie within the police powers of the States, and that “[t]hey are matters that do not ordinarily concern the national government.” Jacobson v. Massachusetts, 197 U.S. 11, 38 (1905). Until quite recently, the Biden Administration agreed. The White House stated on July 23 of this year that mandating vaccines is “not the role of the federal government.” But on September 9, 2021, that position underwent a dramatic reversal. The President announced several sweeping vaccine mandates, including a vaccine mandate to be issued by OSHA that would apply to all employers who employ more than 100 employees. OSHA published this “emergency” mandate two months later, crafting an elaborate post hoc justification for a policy that the President had already ordered it to impose. This sweeping federal mandate encompasses, in OSHA's own estimation, "two-thirds of all private-sector workers in the nation."

This mandate is unconstitutional, unlawful, and unwise. The federal government lacks constitutional authority under its enumerated powers to issue this mandate, and its attempt to do so unconstitutionally infringes on the States' powers expressly reserved by the Tenth Amendment. OSHA also lacks statutory authority to issue the ETS, which it shoe-horned into statutes that govern workplace safety, and which were never intended to federalize public-health policy. OSHA's justification for the mandate is not supported by substantial evidence in the record considered as a whole under 29 U.S.C. § 655(f), as the ETS fails to consider obvious distinctions and critical aspects of the problem. Its unlawful mandate will cause injuries and hardship to working families, inflict economic disruption and staffing shortages on the States and private employers, and impose even greater strains on struggling labor markets and supply chains.

OSHA's justification for this unprecedented mandate constitutes the quintessential "post hoc rationalization[]" that "cannot be accepted as a basis for review." Asbestos Info. Ass'n/N. Am. v. Occupational Safety & Health Admin., 727 F.2d 415, 422 (5th Cir. 1984). OSHA did not first discern a “grave danger” to employees and then devise a standard “necessary” to protect them, as the statute requires. 29 U.S.C. § 655(c). Instead, the President dictated his preferred policy to the agency in advance, and OSHA reverse-engineered a justification for that predetermined conclusion. It is a “foundational principle of administrative law” to reject such “impermissible post hoc rationalizations.” Dep’t of Homeland Sec. v. Regents of the Univ. of California, 140 S. Ct. 1891, 1907, 1909 (2020). The Court should do so.

For these and many other reasons, Petitioners respectfully request that this Court hold unlawful, vacate, and set aside the Order, grant a stay of the Order pending judicial review, and grant such further relief as may be deemed just and proper.
