FIRE SCENE

This explosion occurred in a two-story, wood-framed, residential structure, which rested on a concrete slab foundation. The structure faced a southerly direction. The exterior walls were covered in vinyl lap siding while a gable style roof was covered in asphalt shingles.

The electric utility was supplied by buried lines to the service entrance located along the west exterior wall.

There was no gas utility supplied to the structure, thus eliminating it as a possible cause of the fire.

Exterior Examination

The exterior examination was conducted in accordance with an established investigative method and started at the least damaged area to the most damaged area. For site-specific references, please refer to the images which were later uploaded to the 'Images/Attachments' section of this report.

The north exterior wall was found to show light to moderate smoke staining present over the east overhead garage door. The east end of the wall was found to show moderate to heavy smoke staining present above the window and man door. The west end of the structure was found to show no visible fire damage.

The east exterior wall was found to show the exterior wall lying on the ground outside of the structure. The second-floor walls were found to be on the first floor beyond the exterior wall remaining in an upright position. The wall studs were found to show moderate mass loss (charring) present.

The south exterior wall along the east end was found to be lying outside of the structure. The wall remained intact and showed moderate mass loss (charring) present at the top of the wall. The vinyl siding along the bottom portion of the wall was found intact while the top portion of the wall was found to show thermal distortion. Approximately twenty (20) to thirty (30) feet from the structure was broken glass and a window frame. The glass was found to be broken into several pieces however, remained clear. The west apartment was found to show moderate thermal distortion to the vinyl siding progressing from near the middle of the structure. I noted moderate to heavy smoke staining present on this portion of the wall.

The west exterior wall was found to show no visible fire damage.

Interior Examination

The interior examination was conducted in accordance with an established investigative method and started at the least damaged area to the most damaged area. For site-specific references, please refer to the images which were later uploaded to the 'Images/Attachments' section of this report. At the time of my fire scene examination, the second floor had collapsed into the first floor. A track hoe was requested to the scene to assist in making the structure safe. Due to the conditions of the structure, the interior exam was limited to the bedroom on the first floor located along the south exterior wall.

The bedroom was found to show the most damage. The floor of the second story was found to show a complete mass loss and had fallen into the first floor. The wall studs on the second floor were found to show an upward and outward pattern of mass loss along the west exterior wall. The north exterior wall was found to show light to moderate mass loss present.

The first floor was found to show moderate to heavy mass loss present to the top portion of the wall studs. The north wall of the bedroom was found to show heavy mass loss present to the entire wall studs near the northwest corner. The closet was found in the northwest corner. The closet was found to show moderate to heavy mass loss to the wall studs and a complete mass loss to the wall coverings.

The area of the bedroom was determined to have been the area of fire origin due to the amount of damage sustained, the exterior wall being intact and lying outside of the structure, and the second floor showing a complete mass loss and falling onto the first floor.

I excavated the area of the bedroom in an attempt to find the cause of the fire. In the northwest corner of the structure, I located a total of six (6) one-pound propane cylinders and one (1) twenty-pound propane cylinder.

Two (2) of the one-pound propane cylinders appeared intact and did not show any signs of failure. Two (2) of the one-pound propane cylinders showed a complete separation of the cylinder and were no longer a sealed unit. Two (2) of the one-pound propane cylinders were found to show a round hole completely through the cylinders. The holes appeared to be similar in shape, size, and consistency to the entry and exit of a handgun round.

After speaking with the occupants, the possible ignition cause was developed as being an accidental discharge of a firearm into the propane cylinders. The occupants further explained there was a candle burning along the east wall of the bedroom. The rapid release of propane caused by the accidental discharge and the open flame of a candle could not be eliminated as a possible cause of the explosion. Due to the information listed above, this fire is listed as accidental.

Conclusion

Due to the burn patterns and evidence noted above, I was unable to eliminate an accidental discharge of a firearm into propane cylinders, and an open flame causing the rapid ignition of the propane as a possible cause of this explosion. This fire is therefore listed as accidental.

INTERVIEW - ELIZABETH OLLER

While on the scene, I spoke with Elizabeth Oller, an occupant of the structure. The following is a summary of the information obtained:

Elizabeth Oller advised she has resided at the residence for approximately four (4) months. Elizabeth Oller advised her brother, Samuel Oller, and his fiancé, Madilyn Frasier, had resided at the residence for approximately two (2) years.

Elizabeth Oller advised she was downstairs talking with Samuel Oller and Madilyn Frasier before the fire. Elizabeth Oller advised she went upstairs to take a shower. Elizabeth Oller advised she was upstairs for approximately five to ten (5-10) minutes before the explosion. Elizabeth Oller advised she felt the house shake. Elizabeth Oller advised she believed it was an earthquake at first due to how much the house shook. Elizabeth Oller advised she looked at the south wall and observed it to be separating from the residence. Elizabeth Oller advised she then exited the structure.

Elizabeth Oller advised her brother, Samuel Oller had been using a propane heater earlier in the night to dry his boots off. Elizabeth Oller advised Samuel Oller had shut the heater off and placed it into the bedroom to avoid his daughter coming into contact with the heater. Elizabeth Oller advised she believed the heater and several small one-pound propane cylinders and a twenty-pound propane cylinder in his bedroom. Elizabeth Oller described the cylinders as being in the northwest corner of the bedroom.

Elizabeth Oller advised that Madilyn Frasier did have a candle lit either in the bedroom or in the kitchen.

Elizabeth Oller advised she was not aware of any electrical issues with the structure and was unsure of the monthly rent payment.

Elizabeth Oller advised she was not aware of any issues with the neighbors or anyone else.

Nothing further was obtained from Elizabeth Oller.

INTERVIEW - SAMUEL OLLER

On Thursday, January 18, 2024, at approximately 1130 hours, I arrived at the University of Missouri Hospital located at 1 Hospital Way, Columbia, Boone County, Missouri. I interviewed Samuel Oller in his hospital room. The following is a summary of the information obtained:

Samuel Oller advised he had smoked a cigarette and let the dogs out before getting ready for bed. Samuel Oller advised he commonly does not carry his handgun with a live round in the chamber due to having his child in the residence. Samuel Oller advised once his child is in bed, he normally places a live round in the chamber and places his 1911-style handgun on his nightstand before going to bed.

Samuel Oller advised he had just placed a live round into his handgun and was placing his handgun onto the nightstand. Samuel Oller advised he was unsure of the exact events however, believed the explosion occurred just before placing the handgun on the table. Samuel Oller advised the incident occurred really fast and he was not sure exactly what had taken place. Samuel Oller advised he did recall a 'big' pop and shortly after was the fire.

Samuel Oller advised he was drying his boots off with a small propane heater in the kitchen at approximately 2000 hours. Samuel Oller advised he shut the heater off and placed it in his bedroom to keep his child from coming in contact with the heater. Samuel Oller advised the propane heater was fueled by one-pound propane cylinders. Samuel Oller advised he believed he had approximately eight (8) one-pound propane cylinders and a single twenty-pound cylinder. Samuel Oller advised he does refill the small cylinders however, had not refilled the small cylinders for approximately four (4) days before the explosion. Samuel Oller advised when he last refilled the small cylinders, he could smell an odor he commonly associates with propane. Samuel Oller advised he did not smell any odors before the explosion.

Samuel Oller advised the bedroom door was closed before he and Madilyn Fraiser entered the bedroom to go to bed. Samuel Oller advised that Madilyn Fraiser had a candle lit inside of their bedroom under the television. Samuel Oller advised he has had issues with the propane heater not wanting to start in the past.

Nothing further was obtained from Samuel Oller.
